

Hearing set for March 2 in Huron school suit

A circuit court hearing in the campaign to recall three members of the Huron Township Board of Education has been set for March 2.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins decided to hold the full hearing after the presentation of preliminary argument in the civil suit last Friday.

Larry Davidow, an attorney representing four Huron Township mothers who filed the suit, charged that sex-oriented courses are being taught "by subterfuge and under the guise of other courses."

Lawyers for the school board say there are no programs to stop, since none exist.

Thomas I. Nordberg, the board's counsel, said an animated Walt Disney film telling of the beginning of menstruation is shown to sixth grade girls, but that students attend only with parental consent.

The other sex class consists of a talk on venereal disease by a registered nurse.

Both programs are approved and within the sex education guidelines of the State Board of Education, school officials reported.

Petitions seeking voter signatures for a recall election against the three school board members were initiated by a citizens committee calling itself "People for Huron."

A township-wide circulation of these petitions began last Thursday following an open meeting held at the Walt Fire Hall New Boston, and attended by approximately 80 "irate" citizens.

The recall petitions are against Harry Hartsuff, 45, of 21850 Bell Rd., New Boston; Mrs. Erma Palmer, 51, of 32150 Prescott, Romulus; and Mrs. Howard (Mildred) Bennett, 28111 Brandes, Flat Rock.

The recall campaign comes in the wake of a continuing controversy over sex education classes in the district's schools. The committee charges that the three board members have harassed and brought unsubstantiated complaints against the school superintendent and four school board officers.

Another citizens group, most of which is made up of supporters of the three school board members whose recall is sought, recently instituted a Wayne County Circuit Court suit against Supt. Byron I. Antcliff and four current school board officers charging that sex education was being taught without proper guidelines as to subject matter and content.

The court suit, a class action, seeks an injunction against the school superintendent and the four officers to prevent them offering any course in human development and sex education during the court suit and a final court decision on the merits of the case.

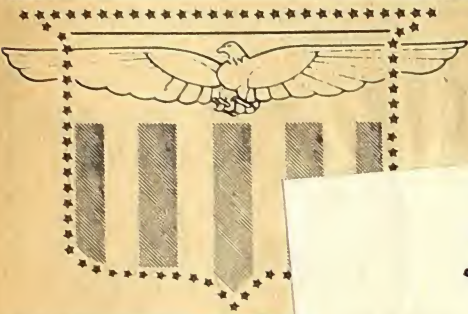

James W. Pershing, president of the "People for Huron," issued the following statement on the recall campaign:

"One very important point is that this recall campaign is not centered around a so-called sex education controversy. It is the result of continued assinine harassment of the school system and its administrators on the part of the three board members and their allies, the Huron Township Citizens Committee."

"These board members have total disregard for the majority of the township. They have aided the four persons suing the school district. By their actions, they have undermined school staff morale."

"They refuse to recognize democracy in action - meaning majority rules. They refuse to perform duties according to accepted and recommended procedures of the Michigan Association of School Boards."

Train hits bus tail pipe

Mrs. Barbara Young, 33, a bus driver for the Airport Community Schools, and her 29 student-passengers escaped injury last Wednesday morning when a fast-moving freight train hit the right rear end of the bus, knocking off the bus' protruding tailpipe as she summed the bus to safety.

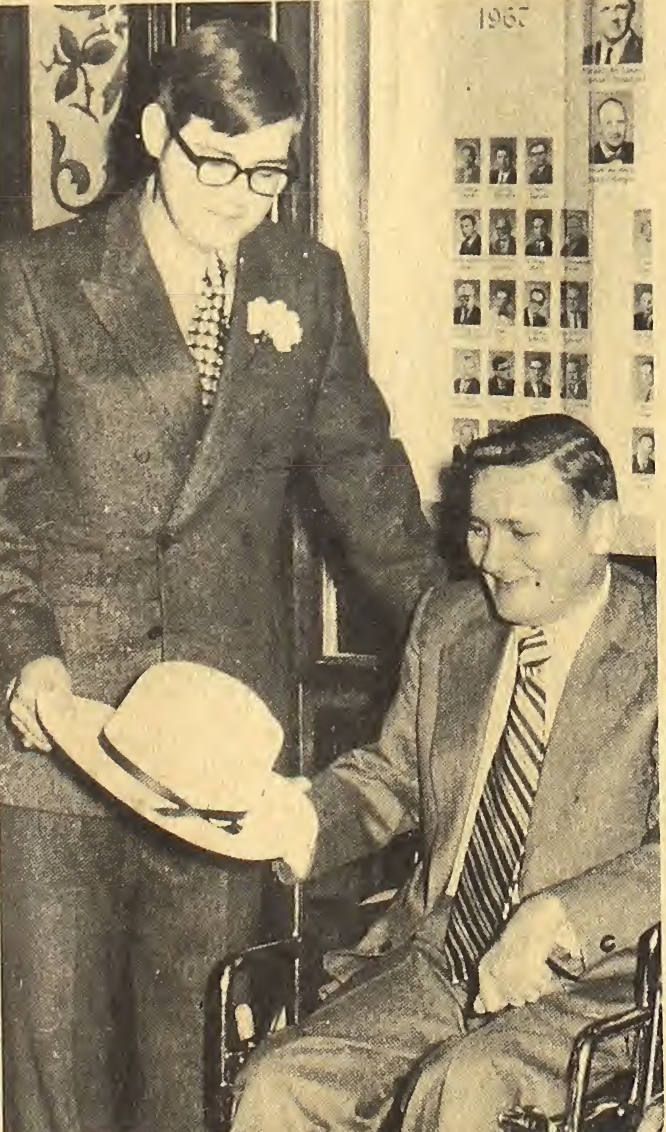

Mrs. Young, who has an unblemished record as a bus driver and resides at 2347 Carleton-West Rd., Carleton, reported to troopers of the Flat Rock of the State Police that the accident occurred at the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad crossing at Sigler Rd. Carleton.

She reported that she was traveling east on Sigler Rd. a half mile south of Carleton, and had stopped the bus to permit a southbound freight train to pass the crossing.

As she started across, she saw a northbound freight bearing down rapidly. She applied maximum acceleration and got clear of the tracks as the train whizzed by her bus.

State Police Trooper Donald Chappell reported that the 52 car train was traveling approximately 35 miles per hour and that a ladder-rail on the train's locomotive struck the right rear end of the school bus just below the rear window and knocked off the bus' tailpipe, which extends eight inches beyond the bus frame.

He reported that no one was injured in the mishap at the crossing which has no signal lights nor crossing gates.

Industrial park sites graded

Romulus wins 2 A's

Metroplex Industrial & Commercial Center and Airway Industrial Center, both located in northeast Romulus, have been given A ratings - the top classification - by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Gov. William G. Milliken reported Tuesday that the commerce department has rated and certified 33 industrial parks throughout the state in a pioneering move to attract more industry to Michigan.

Metroplex is an 80-acre site on the northeast corner of Middlebelt and Ecorse Rds., running north to Beverly Rd. The Airway site is on 40 acres across Middlebelt Rd. and stretching also from Ecorse to Beverly Rd.

The governor also said that the commerce department, which initiated the program, already has received more than 100 requests for its new booklet on industrial parks.

The booklet provides a concise register of Michigan's industrial parks and the facilities they offer, including accessibility to highways, railroads and airports.

Ratings will be reviewed every three years.

Other industrial parks in Wayne County on the list include Metro Industrial Park in Wayne and Taylortown Industrial Park in Taylor, both of which received A ratings. Two industrial parks in Livonia and two in Plymouth also received A ratings.

New club for Lions

A new Lions Club is being formed for the Romulus area.

An initial meeting concerning the club's formation will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 4 at Rogalle's Lounge, located on Haggerty Rd. at the I-94 Expressway.

Frank Filkins selected Drive ups for educational board number of teen votes

The appointment of Frank Filkins, 29, to the Romulus Board of Education was announced Monday by School Superintendent Robert L. McConeghy.

Filkins was selected by the school board in a special school board meeting held last Tuesday night (Jan. 19) He was one of the seven applicants under consideration by the school board.

The new board member will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William M. Oakley who resigned to continue serving the Romulus City Council.

Oakley had been elected to both posts, and, after an opinion made recently by the state attorney general's office that serving in both posts would create a conflict of interest. He decided to retain his job on the city council.

Filkins and his wife, Carol, are parents of three children; Scott, 8; Randy, 6; and Kristi, 4. Scott and Randy are students at the Hayti Elementary School.

The new board member was born in Lincoln Park. He has been a Romulus resident for the last 23 years. He is a 1959 graduate of Romulus Senior High School and served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps (1959 to 1963).

Filkins is employed by the Detroit Edison Co. as a substation operator in the downriver area.

To stimulate interest in ticket sales the Men's Club members have been divided into two teams. Captain of the "Victors" is Bernard Hughey while Larry Hicks heads the "Winners."

A registration drive last week at Romulus Senior High School brings to 146 the number of 18-year-old Romulus residents eligible to vote in national elections.

The registration followed a mock election conducted by government teacher Peter Ross class project.

Last November' general election material and candidate lists were used as well as a city voting machine.

Registering the students were Deputy City Clerk Mrs. Deanna Lovenduski, Administrative Secretary to the City Clerk Miss Theresa Bryant and Brooker R. Edwards, vote registrar and member of the city council.

Resident says fee hikes his taxes too

To the editor:

Well, better late than never. Although the following letter was submitted for last week's paper, it was not printed due to space limitations.

Beware! It appears that the inmates have finally taken over the asylum. This fact was clearly evident to all that attended the Van Buren Township Board Meeting of 1-12-71.

The highlight, or more properly the "lowlight" of the meeting, was a discussion of the 2½ per cent "engineering" fee. As per last week's paper, several local concerns including GM have been invoiced for this extra fee after they had already paid for and received township engineering approval of their plans. Indications are that GM and other local businessmen so involved are not about to shout "Ho! Ho!" and keep Mr. Levine's stocking full of gingersnaps.

Supervisor Gollwitzer asked Attorney Hopson for a legal opinion of the validity of the 2½ per cent fee. Mr. Hopson indicated that a flat fee probably is not fair and then proceeded to waltz everyone around the philosophical barn of fee schedules. After Mr. Hopson apparently ran out of breath, the supervisor again asked what our legal position was with regard to the fee and GM. Mr. Hopson stated that in the case of GM the fee was doubtful and that he would not want to go to court against GM. At this point the supervisor logically asked in what position this left the other firms against which this fee has been assessed. Mr. Hopson, after some additional "dialogue", stated that "this matter is something better left undiscussed in public."

Now I ask you, if per Mr. Hopson the fee was illegally charged to GM, why is it not automatically illegal to assess the same fee to other businesses? Secondly, if the whole fee scheme was open and above board, why does Mr. Hopson state "this matter is something that is better left undiscussed in public"? It would seem that Mr. Hopson would like to continue to keep you and I the taxpayers in the dark. As for myself, I know that as a child I occasionally got caught with my hand in the cookie jar between meals and I never wanted to discuss it either.

During the open portion of the meeting I stated that the facts of the case seem clear cut and as such I felt that Attorney Hopson should be able to render a specific opinion as to legality of the fee itself. Mr. Hopson first asked me who I represented and I stated that I represented one taxpayer — me. I again asked Mr. Hopson if he could render an opinion and he finally answered "no."

Why all the fuss over a fee that is only being charged to new business ventures in the township? Well, how did you like the property tax bills you just received? The only chance we have of getting any practical tax relief is by attracting new industries to our township. However, what is the best way to keep this type tax producer out?

One way is by establishing a reputation as a township that will do anything to give any new business a bum deal such the 2½ per cent fee. We, as taxpayers just cannot afford to let this happen. I sincerely hope that all concerned learn something from this sad episode and prevent such action in the future by clearing up this situation now.

On the plus side, Mr. Hopson recommended that he and the board review what extra work in the way of site inspections might be required and draw up a sliding fee schedule that would be presented to builders before the fact, if it is required. This proposal received unanimous board approval.

I would like to comment briefly on the letter of J. Marchant. I enjoyed your letter very much, especially the first and last paragraphs. When I drink my breakfast juice I now shout, "Wow! that sure doesn't taste like tomato juice". Kidding aside, I consider your letter to be constructive criticism which I shall always value. With regard to Mr. Hink, I would be the last to deny that he has been anything but outstanding in his contributions in the area of township youth programs.

However, the basic point I attempted to make in previous articles was not one of my judgment of Mr. Hink, but of the judgment of the voters at the polls. They make the final evaluation of any candidate as they did in this case of Mr. Hink.

The other point that I would like to make is that although I consider myself a reasonably competent engineer, I am certain that you would not want me to remove your appendix. You see, experience and dedication in one field doesn't necessarily guarantee wisdom and success in all fields.

One final point. I suggest that you, J. Marchant, reread your letter, but switch your name with mine. Now then, can you justify your attempt to ridicule Mr. Blend? It would seem that you too may make lead scarves popular.

Two Huron mothers review 'can of worms'

To the editor:

Mr. Pershing, you asked in your Jan. 20 Romulus Roman article, "What are the real motives behind these harrassments?"

Approximately a year ago, were you not one of many of this township's citizens, who were very dissatisfied with the Becoming Curriculum Methods that were being used at Hannan Road School? And did you not have in your possession discriminating newspaper articles from Saugatuck about Mr. Antcliff and his becoming curriculum? Did you not bring these newspaper articles and a copy of the Becoming Curriculum to the attention of certain board members?

Isn't this how this "can of worms" got opened in the first place? Had it not been for these instances, the parents of this township may never have been made aware of what has been going on in our schools under the guidance of Mr. Antcliff. Your code of values should be questioned by your own committee, let alone ours!!

You have frequently made references to the association of Palmiter, Bennett and Hartsuff, being involved with the Huron Township Citizens Committee. Tell us, Mr. Pershing, aren't Richert, Kyko, Larabelle, Rush, Mr. Antcliff and the People for Huron Committee all one and the same?

Also, you continually insinuate that Huron Township Citizens Committee are either members of, or influenced by MOTOREDE, and-or, the John Birch Society.

We do wish you could make up your mind. According to articles we have read, there is an organization called SEICUS which seems to fear the J.B.S. Are you influenced by this group? You do seem to dwell on this consistently. Why is it such a thorn in your side?

Our diagnosis of you, Mr. Pershing, is that you and your people seem to suffer from a chronic case of the "Pot Calling the Kettle Black!!"

Were the grandstand plays that were made by four board members, Mr. Antcliff and members of People for Huron Committee due to the fact that they had a lawyer at the Jan. 18 meeting?

We have never before witnessed such a conglomeration of threats, insults, beratings, harassing and sarcasm as was displayed at this meeting. These people reminded us of very immature children who felt very brave because mother was standing near by. We must add that they were the most informed and the most rehearsed group that we have ever heard. We cannot help but wonder who manipulates the strings!

In regards to the movie that Mrs. Palmiter had privately, (she thought) discussed with Mr. Henton, it was made quite clear that we as parents or grandparents no longer have the right to question anything that goes on in our schools. Mr. Antcliff and his devoted followers deem it necessary not only to discuss flamboyantly and with holier-than-thou showmanship this private conversation openly at the last board meeting, but to show the movie in question to the participating audience in an obvious attempt to ridicule Mrs. Palmiter. This sneak attack on her — and we call it this as she was not forewarned by the four fellow board members who helped to set her up like a clay pigeon — was in our opinion in disgustingly poor taste!

We cannot help but feel shame for all the people from our board chairman on down, who were involved in this attack.

And you Mrs. Kline, I must admit that you showed great fortitude and perseverance in twisting my words to suit your needs. I can't help but wonder if you have been taking lessons from People for Huron.

If so, I congratulate you, as you have picked the masters as your teacher. If all is well on the West Coast with the educational system, as you seem to think, then why did they re-elect a conservative governor and two known members of the J.B.S to the legislature? Why is California swinging away from the extreme liberalism to the extreme conservatism?

Could it be that the people of California are also fed up? It certainly sounds like it.

Come on, Mrs. Kline, even the youth of today is getting fed up with immorality that has been created in the system, and you would know this if you would step out of that little realm you have created for yourself and open your eyes and ears.

I may be too old fashioned to be a "far out mother", but its only because I am not willing to trade my teen-ager's morality for the new sexuality, as you seem to be.

You are so right Mrs. Kline, we most certainly do need "responsible, educated, qualified people on our school boards!!" We also expect to find these qualifications in our educators and administrators.

Raker retains district seat

The two incumbents easily won re-election to three year terms to the Wayne County Soil Conservation District board at its first annual meeting in Belleville last night.

P.R. Biebesheimer of 39225 Glenwood Road, Wayne, and David Raker of 17750 Wahrman Road, Romulus, won handily over their Belleville opponents Hagbard (Bart) Berg of 48630 E. Michigan Ave., and Charles Renton of 14270 Martinsville Rd.

The district's five seat board of directors presented its annual report to some 30 persons attending the meeting at the 4-H Fargrounds building, 10871 Quirk Road.

The fiscal report showed the district to be in good financial condition, having a balance of more than $1,000 above its disbursements, according to a report issued by the treasurer Glenn Miller.

The purpose of the district is to act as a "grass roots body" for the United States Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service.

The board has successfully undertaken the project of a Wayne County soils study to be conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.

The study will be conducted over a three-year period and will be funded by the state and federal agencies with the Wayne County Road of Commissioners dispensing the funds.

It is expected that the findings of this study will be of value to the agriculturalist as well as the urbanite.

The study would indicate certain areas of flooding and would allow the prospective developer to become aware of the difficulties that sometimes arise in low lying or high water areas.

Another example is soil with a high clay content. This soil often swells when wet and shrinks when dry, thus cracking foundations unless special provisions are made during construction. Clay soil can expand up to 50 percent between wet and dry conditions.

The study would also show

the urbanite better ways of dispensing of the water drainage that sometimes cause flooding and considerable damage.

The local office of the Soil Conservation Service, (SCS), working through the Wayne County Soil Conservation District, also provided a long list of accomplishments in its year-and-one-half existence.

The list includes:

- Thirty local units of government were provided with technical assistance.
- Six inventories and evaluations for resource planning were prepared for units of government.
- Two site selection for public facility reports were prepared for units of government.
- More than 184 individuals were provided with soil and water conservation information to help them apply conservation to their property on their own initiative.

Sixteen landowners applied conservation practices with the SCS assistance which included five irrigation and wildlife ponds, 12,000 feet of drainage tile and seven acres of wildlife habitat management.

The SCS also provided information to groups and schools with speeches, slide-tape programs and other programs.

The "key-note" speaker at the annual meeting was B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Chamber to benefit City of Romulus

The progress and well being of any community lies to a great degree on the interest and united front shown by its citizens, business and professional elements.

A major step in this direction has been taken in the City of Romulus with the formation of a new professional organization—the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce.

An official welcome into the fold of Romulus activity and development was presented to the new Chamber of Commerce at a Charter Night Banquet held last Thursday at the Hilton Inn.

More than 100 civic and governmental leaders—both city and state—joined the new chambers' 60 charter members at the presentation of a charter of operation and official recognition by the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

We also join in welcoming the community's new professional group to the City of Romulus.

We congratulate the individuals, businesses and professionals who have chosen the City of Romulus as their base of operations and uniting their efforts toward the improvement and future development of Romulus by the formation of a local Chamber of Commerce.

The success and strength of any Chamber of Commerce depends to a great degree on the united strength and cooperative spirit of its members.

The City of Romulus, Wayne County's newest city, is growing at a fast pace in the areas of industry, commerce and residential living.

The community is under the direction of its first major and seven-member City Council. They had made tremendous strides in converting the old township form of government into a successful city operation.

Officials and members of the community's first Chamber of Commerce can do a lot toward city betterment by uniting their efforts with city officials in programs that are beneficial to all who reside in the community.

Again we say to the new chamber, "Welcome to the City of Romulus."

State's fight to save environment continues

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative 38th District

Several recent developments in our continuing fight to save Michigan's environment, including promising efforts to save our shorelines, have been taking place.

Early in December, the Governor signed into law a bill which gives the Michigan Wildlife and Natural Resources Department (DNR) to prepare zoning restrictions to preserve these beautiful scenic attractions.

The local units of government have the responsibility of carrying out state zoning guidelines. If this is not done in three years, the state can step in and impose restrictions.

The governor is expected to sign momentarily a companion bill, which won final approval in the December session. It is aimed toward the preservation of Michigan's Great Lakes shorelines.

The new Shorelines Erosion Act requires state agencies to start immediate studies of possible natural threats to shorelines, such as erosion or such man-made problems as commercial exploitation or petroleum drilling.

After the studies are completed, the state can prepare zoning restrictions for "high risk" shorelines.

These restrictions will be submitted to the local units of government. If the local governing body's do not carry out the zoning plans, or an acceptable version of them within one year, the state will be free to take its own action.

These are just two of a series of environmental bills passed by the 1970 legislature. One new law already has started to show results. Basically, the law permits citizens and organizations to file lawsuits against polluters.

The plaintiff does not have to show personal loss from the pollution practices. This law became effective Oct. 1.

It has resulted in a number of lawsuits filed throughout the state, although there has been no court decisions to date. There has also been at least one challenge to the constitutionality of the law.

Speaking of schools

Tell child names of letters

Editor's note: Miss Charlotte Hardy, a teacher at the Hannan Elementary School, is the author of a pamphlet entitled "Prepare Your Child for Reading" and published by the University of Michigan School of Education. The following is the third and final article.

Children often show an interest in letters before they do in words and sentences. If so, tell them the names of letters. The young child learns the capital letters before the small ones.

When he starts to copy letters, the capital ones are easier and he will usually start with these. There is some evidence that familiarity with letters will help him reading words and sentences. But this should be kept informal and "for fun."

In this early stage, a child will be interested in picture books. Here you may help your child with the words beneath the picture. Following a story through pictures will be another early stage in reading. There are books with a sequence of pictures which are helpful in showing children the left-right direction our eyes follow in reading.

Your child will ask, "What does this say?" There will be a wealth of reading in a trip to the grocery store or five-and-ten. Signs and labels are all grist for the reading mill. Here the "look and say" method will be utilized.

This method may also be used through the occasional putting down in manuscript of an experience or an interesting sentence or phrase your child has used and then reading it back to him. If he goes to school, he may want to take his "story" to show to his teacher and the other children.

Perhaps he will be interested in the pre-primers and other simple story-books. In reading these stories, help your child to use the pictures as clues and the context as clues.

Help him to notice the shape and length of a word. Help him to notice the similarities and then the difference in words that are a great deal alike. Often it is wise to simply tell him the word which he does not recall.

Between the lines

School closings would be sad

The announced closings of some of the Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit at the end of the present school year and the proposed elimination of certain grades and facilities in other schools will be sad events in the lives of many children of area families.

According to the pronouncement of various parish councils and pastors, the proposed closings of these educational facilities are made necessary by the lack of sufficient funds for continued operation and the elimination of state aid to parochial schools.

Other parish councils and pastors have issued joint statements that they are hopeful that the financial reports and three-year projected budgets will meet the criteria set up by the office of John Cardinal Dearden and keep their parish schools open next year.

Proposal C prohibiting the spending of state funds for non-public schools or students attending nonpublic schools was approved by a majority of Michigan voters in last November's general election. This question is now before the Michigan Supreme Court.

Michigan educators, school administrators and legislators are all awaiting a ruling by the Supreme Court.

Whether the court's interpretation of Proposal C's intent and purpose results in reversal of the proposal's backers remains to be seen.

Meanwhile John Cardinal Dearden, who will make the final decisions of Catholic School closings soon, created a Cardinal's Task Force to set up criteria and guidelines that parishes have to meet in order to continue their parish schools.

These Catholic schools now facing closed doors have taken a burden off Michigan taxpayers in past years and according to published reports and statistics have done an excellent job in doing it.

Capitol foundation needs expert's ruling

By DON HOENSHELL

It still will be safe, he said, because engineers believe the soil has settled enough over the years to allow for the seven per cent reduction.

Repairs recommended five years ago will be made to the foundation. In some areas the gigantic cement blocks in the sub-basement are chipping and cracking. New cracks have appeared in the outside walls.

"If it ever collapsed, this building would go in a hurry," he said. "The best thing we could do—even in a fire—is get people out. There's no reason to believe we couldn't do it."

By MISS CHARLOTTE HARDY
Huron School District teacher

The words that seem simplest to adults, such as the, a, was, saw, and, of, but, are the ones with which many children have trouble. You child may say "was" for "saw" and the other way round.

He may continue to see these and other similar words backwards until he is eight or nine. In working with him, remind yourself that these words that seem so simple to us call up no picture to a child, have no distinctive form and, therefore, are hardest to remember.

As your child begins to read, sweep your hand under the line from left to right to show him from which side of the page we always begin. Tell him to begin to read at the top of the page. Let him use a line marker at first, if he has difficulty going from one line to the next.

Don't try to hurry your child. Let him work with letters and figures and words as long as he finds it fun.

When he begins to find them easy, he will want to try a harder book.

"We've added two new fire escapes and have designated safety routes."

The newest report was made by the engineering firm of Harley Ellington Associates, now merged with Pierce, Wolf and Yee, of Southfield, one of the largest consulting companies in the state.

"On a longterm basis—and we're talking about 20 years, now—the building would be structurally unsafe," Roeger said. "That's the reason we're leaving it. We can't do anything with this building."

Roeger referred to the proposed new capitol building four blocks west of the present site which legislators still estimate will cost $48 million despite other estimates of up to $100 million.

Senator Garland Lane (D-Flint), ranking Democrat on the Senate Appropriations committee, favors demolishing the present structure when the new capitol is completed in six to eight years.

He expects a fight with history buffs who want to keep the present building as a museum and preserve it as Michigan's first permanent seat of state government.

The first one, in Detroit's Capitol Park, is the site of a city bus terminal and the second, three blocks southeast of the present site in Lansing, is a dime store.

Plans now call for over-flooring all three floors in both the House and Senate, except for the legislative chambers and the former Supreme Court room, which will be the new home of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The latest engineering report recommends that the newly-created mezzanines be used for "for light office purposes." Roeger said and opposes any concentration of filing cabinets or machinery.

They deserve our gratitude in helping to maintain quality education in Michigan.

It is now a time for wholehearted cooperation on the part of neighbors in seeing that this quality education continues for all those children affected by the closing of these schools.

Speaking of education, many persons wonder where the current exploitation of pornography, the rights of individual privacy and effectiveness of the law will come together — if at all.

An opportunity to explore social and legal facets of this issue is being afforded adults of southeastern Michigan by the University Center for Adult Education.

Romulus resident lauds hiring sheriff

To the editor:

I have been reading the letters of criticism the actions of our city government in hiring the Wayne County Sheriff's Department to protect us.

I feel that I voted for these city councilmen as my representatives to make decisions in my behalf. I realize that no group can please all of the people all of the time.

However, in this instance, the city councilmen made a decision that pleases me very much. Therefore I want to commend them for their far sighted action.

As a voter, I voted to increase taxes for our Romulus police force because it was all that was available, not because I approved of it. Would the people who are criticizing this move please explain to me how our small city could ever duplicate the extensive facilities, and special training of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department?

I also wish they would ask city businessmen what protection they had with the Romulus police force and ask the teen-agers of the city if they had respect for the Romulus police force. Then ask many of us who live and own homes in this city how safe we felt with the Romulus police force protecting us. Did these critics ever ask for help from the Romulus police force?

I am not a politician, have no relatives in this city and have no way to benefit from this letter. I am merely a housewife and mother and concerned with the city in which my family is living. I have tried to be open minded, have asked opinions of other city residents and I feel that our duly elected representatives made a wise decision.

I wish to again commend them for their decision to obtain the protection of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Group to stage Stuart play

The Romulus Theatre Arts Club has completed casting for its spring production Monday. Faculty Advisor and Director David Ferdon announced Monday.

Scheduled for staging April 1, 2 and 3, the production will be a three act play by Jesse Stuart entitled, "The Thread That Runs So True."

The story reflects the true experiences of teacher-writer, Jesse Stuart during his career in rural Ozark Schools. Stuart, played by William Crook, encounters in a one room school the many obstacles and problems of a rural, poverty stricken district.

Placed in 1925, when education was second to employment or work on the farms, students were often bigger and older than the teacher. Parents preferred that their children marry rather than learn "readin' and writin'".

Throughout the play, these problems confront the idealistic, young and intense

Stuart; he finds that their solution, then as now lies in removing apathy and involving the community in awareness of the values of education.

The cast of characters includes Curt Savage as the school bully and Sandra Siewert as Naomi Dean, a student who convinces Jesse to remain at Lonesome Valley school despite the problems.

Also included in the cast are Gary Meyers, Jim Smith, Greg Roundtree, Dan Deschene, Bill Bigham, Dave Stewart, Mike Silvers, Cathy Ziemann, Adell and Yvette Austin, Denise Ryan, Denise Vickerman, Dawn Kazarian, Darcia Washington and Mary Lewkowicz.

Sharon Siewert, Diane Leineke, Roxanne Akowitz, Barbara Curley, Nancy Smith, Wanda Sanders, Marge Rohde and Sherie Meade.

Each member will spend many after school hours memorizing lines, revising stage movements and developing their individual characters.

Non-voters off Van Buren rolls

Van Buren Township's vote registration lists have been reduced by 974 registrations, Township Clerk Mrs. Erma Jean Payne announced Monday.

The reduction in vote registrations was announced after a purging of current voting list is of those persons who failed or neglected to exercise their voting franchise in the last year.

In December, the township mail distributed 1,394 reinstatement cards, Mrs. Payne reported. As of Monday, Jan. 25, only 420 cards have been returned requesting reinstatement of their vote registrations.

Vote registrations for the township stood at 5,131 persons prior to the November general election. Other registrations have been accepted since then and are currently being processed.

Five named to board

Five members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners have been appointed to the county's Labor Relations Board by Robert E. FitzPatrick, County Board chairman. They are:

James DeSana of Wyandotte (D-District 23), Huey A. Ferguson, Detroit, (D-Dist. 5); Edward Jones, Detroit, (D-Dist. 16); Richard E. Manning, Redford, (D-Dist. 19); and Ervin A. Steiner Jr.,

Grosse Pointe Farms, R-Dist. 3).

The Labor Relations Board negotiates contracts with the county employee unions. FitzPatrick's appointments were approved by the Board of Commissioners by a vote of 25-1.

In addition to the five commissioners, the Labor Relations Board consists of one member each of the Road Commission and Civil Service Commission.

Registration period set

The deadline for registering to vote in the special school election set for March 18 is 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 12, School Superintendent Dale E. Kaultz, announced Monday.

Registered and qualified voters of the Van Buren Public School District will be asked to approve a school building bond issue in the amount of $2.5 million on March 18.

Proceeds of this bond issue will be used to finance the construction of urgently needed educational facilities, including a new elementary school and an addition to the high school library.

Faust favors alternatives to aid cutback

Some alternatives to the governor's proposed two per cent across-the-board cutback in state aid to school districts are expected to be proposed after state legislators return from a recess Feb. 2.

Members of the legislative appropriations committees are being urged to change the across-the-board formula by senators and representatives from areas in which there are school districts with local tax returns.

State Sen. William P. Faust (D-Westland) and State Rep. James T. Tierney are among the legislators who say they believe that an across-the-board cutback would penalize districts with low valuations per student.

Tierney pointed out that an across-the-board cutback could mean a loss of $15 per student in low valuation districts, such as Inkster, but would mean only a loss of $5 per student in districts with higher valuations, such as Dearborn.

Gov. William G. Milliken proposed the cutback as part of a program to help avert a state budget deficit of $108 million. Under terms of the state constitution, his proposals to balance the budget need only the approval of the appropriations committees of both legislative units.

Tierney said he has been talking with members of the committees of both legislative units, and he planned to return to Lansing for additional meetings before the legislators reconvene.

A spokesman from the office of Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said: The legislators recessed last week to allow time for recount of votes in one senatorial district and two house districts.

State Sen. Phillip Pettinger, a Republican, won the 24th District seat by a margin of about 500 votes over Democratic candidate Leonard Stutman. If the recount shows Stutman to be the winner, the Democrats would have the majority in the Senate of 20 to 18.

However, many legislators, both Republicans and Democrats, do not believe the membership of the committee would be changed and thus, the decisions of the proposed cutback rests with the present membership.

Faust, in a statement released through his office, said: "It would be unlikely that they would change the Appropriations Committee, but I would not like to go on record as saying it could not happen."

The spokesman from Zollar's office made a similar comment: "I don't think there is much of a change in the composition of the committee."

He also added that he did not think that the vote recount would change the composition of the senate.

Tierney said that an across-the-board cutback "would further compound the gap between the haves and have nots of districts in Michigan."

He also said that the proposal points out a "desperate need" to revise the state formula for aid to schools. Tierney said he expected a revision of the formula might be passed by legislators during the ensuing year.

Congressman Ford puts 13 bills in the hopper

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) introduced or co-sponsored 13 bills on the opening day of the 92nd Congress.

Topics of his proposed legislation covered a wide spectrum ranging from health and education to the war in Southeast Asia, unemployment, pollution and a lowered voting age.

In addition, Congressman Ford joined with a group of other Democrats in urging the Ways and Means Committee to take early action on Social Security improvements, including a 15 per cent hike in benefits, an increase in minimum payments, and an increase in the annual earnings limitation.

"Failure to enact these changes was among the major failures of the 91st Congress and a bitter disappointment to the nation's 26,000,000 Social Security recipients," Congressman Ford said. "The purchasing power of their limited incomes was severely

The opening day legislation introduced by Congressman Ford included:

A resolution aimed at curtailing the expanding U.S. air war in Cambodia by extending the 1970 Cooper-Church ban on ground troops and advisors to also include a prohibition against air or seas combat support for any military operations in Cambodia."

A bill to establish a National Health Security Program, guaranteeing full health insurance for all Americans, financed through a Health Security Trust Fund similar to the existing Social Security Trust Fund. Money to administer the program would come from (1) Federal general tax revenues, 50 percent; (2) an employer payroll tax, 36 percent; (3) a tax on wages and non-earned income up to $15,000 a year, 12 percent; and (4) a tax on self-employment income up to $15,000 a year, two percent.

A comprehensive plan to help combat unemployment by an accelerated public works bill calling for Federal aid to local communities for construction of public facilities. Priority would be given to chronic high-unemployment areas, to communities with plans already under way and to projects with a high percentage of labor cost.

Two consumer protection bills dealing with billing practices. One would prevent a creditor from imposing a finance charge on a customer unless the statement is sent out at least 21 days prior to the last date for payment. The other is aimed at erroneous and repeated billings and failure of creditors to reply to inquiries about such billings. The creditor would have to acknowledge any such inquiry within 10 days, and either explain or correct the statement within 60 days. Failure to do so would forfeit his right to collect the amount questioned.

A resolution calling for full enfranchisement of voters between the ages of 18 and 21. A recent Supreme Court decision established this right for Federal elections, but not for local and state balloting.

A bill to establish a Joint Committee on the Environment, to bring the full resources of both the House and Senate together in an effort to find solutions to the growing problems of environmental pollution.

A proposal for an all-out Federal program to find a cure for cancer within the next decade. Included in the plan would be an allocation of at least $650,000 annually for 10 years for research, construction of five new cancer research institutes, and creation of a Federal Cancer Agency to stimulate research on cancer.

A bill to provide benefits for workers suffering from Byssinosis (brown lung disease) which afflicts workers in textile plants. The benefits would be similar to those already in effect for victims of "black lung disease" which affects coal miners.

A bill to establish a Student Loan Marketing Association, to bolster and improve the Federal student loan program. More than 2,500,000 college students borrowed $3 billion under this program in the past five years, but the demand is quickly outrunning the available money.

A proposal to create a National Overseas Education Board within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to assume responsibility for the education of dependents of military and civilian employees of the U.S. Government serving overseas.

A bill to enable teachers to improve their qualifications through the awarding of annual sabbatical leave grants, not to exceed one year at $200 a month.

A bill aimed at preventing the Armed Forces from using their purchasing powers to affect the outcome of labor disputes. Since farm workers in California began a strike and boycott against non-union lettuce growers, the Defense Department has greatly increased lettuce purchases from non-union growers. A similar situation was observed in the grapeworkers' boycott which was settled last year.

Sumpter man dies in accident

Arthur Carnill, 72, of 19852 Clark Rd., Sumpter Township, was fatally injured last Wednesday night when a car he was driving ran into a ditch on Clark Rd. near Judd Rd. in Sumpter Township.

Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol officers reported that Carnill, while driving west on Judd Rd., allegedly ran through a stop sign at Clark Rd. His car hit a double arrow road sign then crashed into a ditch in front of 21012 Clark Rd.

Carnill, who was alone in the car, was taken to Wayne County General Hospital where he was dead on arrival. The accident happened at 10:15 p.m.

At historic Fair Lane

Village Players will play second concert

The acclaimed Village Chamber Players and the John Dvoras Village Singers will perform works by Monteverdi and Bach in the second concert of the Fair Lane Music Guild's 1970-71 season, Sunday, at 3 p.m.

Once again the main floor of the University of Michigan-Dearborn's Fair Lane Center will provide the setting for an afternoon of outstanding chamber music. The Guild's initial concerts have attracted near capacity audiences to historic Fair Lane, the former home of Henry Ford I.

Joining the nine-member Village Chamber Players ensemble will be the recently formed John Dvoras Village Singers. The Village Singers are under the direction of John Dvoras, director of choral activities at Oakland University.

Although newly created, the 10-voice ensemble has already been engaged for concerts in Detroit, Birmingham and Albion, as well as for the Music Guild's January program. Members of the choral group come throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

A native of Boston, Dvoras studied at Boston University, Northwestern University and the University of Michigan. His background includes training under Thor Johnson, Allen Lannon and Julius Herford. He is now in his fifth year at Oakland University, directing the University Chorus and the Oakland University Singers.

The January program will open with Claudio Monteverdi's "Mottet 'Laetatus Sum,'" with the Village Singers and the Chamber Players ensemble. Sopranos Imogene Bird and Nina Studebaker will team with tenors Gary Wilson and David Anderson, and bass Serwind Netzler as featured performers.

Bach's "Trio Sonata in C minor" will feature Shaul Ben-Meir, flute, Frank Preuss, violin, and Ray Ferguson, harpsichord. The Village Singers return for the Cantata "Christ Lag in Todesbanden" by Bach in closing the first half of the program.

Two Ward Swingle-Bach arrangements, "Aria" from the "Suite in D major," and "Bourée II" from the "English Suite No. 2" open the second portion of the program.

Flutist Shaul Ben-Meir will be featured soloist in Bach's "Suite in B minor."

The program closes with the Bach Cantata "Aus der Tiefe rufe ich, Herr, zu dir," with tenor Allen Harris and bass Murray Hulse as soloists.

Music Guild officials have again arranged for a special children's entertainment program. All children under the age of 14 are admitted free and may sit with their parents if space is available. During the second half of the program, children may attend a supervised movie program in the basement of the center.

Tickets for the January program, and the GM Guild's final concert in April, will be on sale at the door. The Fair Lane Center is located in the U-M Dearborn campus, Evergreen and Gildow Roads. Program information may be obtained by phoning 271-2300 ext. 343 or 548-7560.

OPENS FRIDAY—Singer DeAnne Jaimes, accompanied by a four-piece band called "Broom", will open Friday at the Westland Lounge, 6921 N. Wayne Rd., Westland.

DeAnne Jaimes opens Friday at Westland Lounge

DeAnne Jaimes, who began her singing career in 1963 while she was working her way through college, will open with "Broom", a four-piece band, at the Westland Lounge, 6921 N. Wayne Rd., Friday night.

Now, seven years later, she has completed her bachelor of science degree in education and will be completing her master of arts degree in communication in the spring. Meanwhile Miss Jaimes has toured the Orient, entertaining troops on Okinawa and Formosa. In 1967, she studied at the University of Guadalajara where she and two friends formed a trio and entertained in Mexico.

Miss Jaimes has cut records and has done many local TV appearances.

She has sung primarily as a featured vocalist with various established bands. Her venture with "Broom" is the first attempt at establishing her own group.

"Broom" consists of Leo Rea on bass, John Ruff on drums, George Durbin on lead guitar and John Minnelli on rhythm guitar.

During her spare time Miss Jaimes works with the Ruby Jones Talent Troupe entertaining at prisons and Army bases throughout Michigan.

Aside from attending Wayne State and working weekends, Miss Jaimes is a substitute teacher during the week.

'The Circus' is a Chaplin masterpiece

United Artists presents "The Circus," written, produced and directed by Charles Chaplin. (1927) Silent, with Chaplin score added. At the Studio North with the following cast: Chaplin, Merna Kennedy.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

Charles Chaplin in 1927 was at the peak of his powers but his time was virtually up. Sound movies were coming in and Chaplin films were never to be the same. The best tidbits in his subsequent films were the pantomime scenes, such as the one in "The Great Dictator" when Chaplin, as Hitler, plays ball with a globe of the world.

Perhaps "The Circus" is to be savored all the more from the viewpoint of hindsight. We now know that an era was ending and these last precious moments are to be savored. In fact, in a way it seems almost presumptuous to review "The Circus." What could be added to or subtracted from its reputation at this point.

As with all the films of the famous tramp, the story is Chaplin's basic one. In this case, he joins a circus, abused and used because he doesn't realize that he's the hit of the show. He falls in love with Merna Kennedy, the wicked circus owner's abused stepdaughter.

Ultimately Chaplin is told he's a success and he begins to lord it over the company. But when a handsome rival, a tight rope walker, shows up and Merna falls for him, Chaplin's ability to entertain fades. He is booted out but engineers the marriage of Merna to her love before his traditional walk into the distance as the camera irises out.

The essence of Chaplin's ability was his rich genius for milking laughs beyond the point you might expect they could be developed. A starved Chaplin attempts to eat the hot dog from the hand of a babe held in his distracted father's arms. Fine—but Chaplin goes further and mustards it first.

Such inventiveness parades a host of magnificent scenes: Chaplin framed by a pickpocket who discards a hot wallet in his pocket, must then flee the police himself, leading to a magnificent chase through a crazy house.

Chaplin is chased by a mule into a sleeping lion's cage frantically trying to hush a barking dog which threatens to wake the lion. Chaplin is on a tightwire when a host of monkeys attack him.

Some of the silent films of Chaplin, Keaton, Laurel and Hardy and others are pure gold.

with cap patric

MY GAL ran into me at THE GOLDEN COIN "other day. "Well I never!" she exclaimed. "You do, too?" sez I. "Everybody does! They ALL come down to 1870 S. Wayne Rd., in Westland for these goodies." And I immediately diverted her attention with one of those King-size Menus with all them King-size goodies. "I instance, can you guess what Frank & Wes can do with a Hot Sub? Or would you stay mad at a nice guy like me if I brought you a liqueur Parfait? No. And if it's your Birthday... The Golden Coin will do something EXTRA nice for you. And if it's your Anniversary, ditto. And if your Gal catches you out at The Golden Coin and you say, "But Honey, I know you know all the nicest places... and so I knew if I waited here, you'd show up", she'll forgive ya. And she'll like it so well, she'll book her whole Club in for a Luncheon next week! And if the whole Club is the first to recognize me... I'll have to cash in that $10,000 Golden Coin Frank Skrumbellos is waiting to buy. But I'll do it. And I'll buy 'em all Dinner or a Cocktail!!

THEY SAY A GUY'S CONSCIENCE doesn't really keep him from doing anything wrong... it just keeps him from enjoying it! Izit True?? I dunno, because I don't hafta worry about my conscience when I go to RALPH'S LOUNGE, at 24521 Ford Rd., in Dearborn Heights to take in CONNIE GRAHAM and THE PLEEZE. Even my Conscience forgets everything else when we get inside! Oh, them Bunnies take your Coat... and your attention... and your heart. Honest. Then, after they help you to a table and you catch your breath... The House Lights dim... and she comes on stage. Oh, Connie, it's me... Cap PATRIC... sitting down here panting. You know, one of these days I'm gonna write a story urging all my swingin' Readers to STAY AWAY from Ralphs... so I can see it all myself. NOW my conscience shows up! I need the money. Okay, just for now... you can all go to Ralphs... IF you dig G-R-E-A-T lookin' dames and great tastin' food!

CANNED AND FROZEN juices are becoming quite popular, it's true... but I still like to squeeze my own tomato once in a while. We go over to some relaxed and relaxin' spot like THE IRON MASK, at 28949 Joy Rd., and sit back inna quiet corner and listen to the man strum the Guitar. And somewhere between a little Cocktail and a Spaghetti Dinner... I give her a squeeze. And you know... in places like that, she gets so enamored of the evening, that she doesn't mind AT ALL! You may think it's the way the man plays those request numbers. Or you may think it's the way Chef Francis Watkins whips up those just-like-downtown Sauces. I personally think it's because I'm the fellow doing the squeezin'. Only how come when I get her all loving the only thing she whispers in my ear is: "Are YOU Cap Patric?" And then I have to pay. If places like The Iron Mask didn't keep me lovable... I'd start running around with one of them canned tomatoes!

THE CHICAGO ROAD HOUSE, on Michigan Ave., just West of Southfield, doesn't wait for someone to recognize ol' Cap! THEY pay... if you come in on Monday or Tuesday of the week in which your Birthday falls. All you have to do is bring your Driver's License to prove you're over 21, and Dinner is T-E-N Cents!!! We've hadda dozen well-meaning Callers this last week, whisper in the ear that we made a mistake. WE DIDN'T!! IT IS 10 CENTS for your Birthday Dinner. Whaddya want? Beef Stroganoff? Broiled Lobster Tails with Drawn Butter? Peida Bread and a T-Bone Steak? Chopped Chicken Livers? Well, brother, can you spare a dime? Becuz it's your Birthday or not... the Chicago Road House has GOT TO BE one of the greatest! Go over now and practice what you'll order on the big day. And mebbe while you're eating, somebody with a string tie will pass by...

LONGESOME GEORGE PFIFFER was at GHERARDIS that night. And so was Diane Martina. And from different tables on opposite sides of the room, you could hear them exclaiming over the same dish. (Me, I ALSO love the Manicotti)... but I was exclaiming over another kinda dish! Some guys, like Lonesome George, get hung up on dishes like Manicotti. Some gals, like Margie Gertz, get hung up over Cemetery Fences. Some "Gourmets, like me, get excited about everything we see at places like Gherardis. We hang around 3747 S. Telegraph in Dearborn, just for the fun of it! (It's fun, too!) After 2 p.m. on Sundays, you can have anything you like to drink. Anything you like to eat. Any kinda dream you wanna dream while your tummy's being treated! And I wanna tell you this IS the greatest Italian Food in the World (including Italy!)... but you can ALSO have EVERY kind of Steak... Seafood... Fowl... Sandwich or Salada your Gourmet Appetito desires! But Lonesome George did go back to his Woods and Waters Fans with a story about the Manicotti. And I don't even know how it ended. Because I got so hungry I lissenin'... I went back to Gherardis.

FUN'S FUN... ESPECIALLY WHEN IT'S ACCOMPANIED BY ELEGANT DINING, SUCH AS ONE ENCOUNTERS AT KOTH'S COLONIAL HOUSE, at 10780 S. Telegraph Rd., in Taylor... but we can't make with funnies and look at Koth's Menu at the same time! QUOTE: "Steak Pierre". Thin slices of Filet of Sirloin carefully placed on a bed of seasoned wheat, herbs and sprinkling of Dry Red Wine. Broiled together in Pot Le Cruset and kept hot with an individual candle warmer. And that's only one... of many, m-a-n-y! Beer is served in frosted Goblets. Wine is warmed and spiced with a fresh, thin peel. Do you prefer Greek Metaxa? Servian Navip Silovitz? A Sazarac? We can recommend 'em all, at The Colonial House. German Cooking... the way The Kaiser would've loved it... the way people travel across the country to get it... the way it's prepared for whole Conventions or Weddings or Parties... or Individual Dinners. "The Best" is another name for Koth's Colonial House. So you can see why we're not kidding! And why we wait around for you to come up and say "Are you Cap Patric?" Because when we buy you a dinner... we can have one with you. THIS business... izza pleasure. And fun at Colonial House... is real good tastin' fun!

Cory has a partner in Peru

By BEVERLY McANALLY

Fund raising activities of the Cory Elementary School PTA during the past year have been directed toward financing its South American School Partnership program.

In October, 1970, the goal of $1,000 was reached and a check for that amount was sent to the Peace Corps, which acts as an intermediary in selecting the "partner" community.

Once selected, the Peace Corps volunteer in that village or town begins direct correspondence with the American donor school.

Last week the PTA group was notified that $968.10 of its contribution has been assigned to the Camcari project in southern Peru.

The remaining $31.90 was allocated to a similar project in the north of Peru where the earthquake of last May made school construction a priority need.

During the past five years, through efforts and contributions of Camcari residents, the school building effort has progressed from a one-room, four-grade school to a six-grade, four-room partially finished building that accommodates six teachers and 250 children.

With the Cory PTA contribution, it is expected that the building can be completed. The required 25 per cent of building costs have already been provided, and local community and the laborers are readily available. Under the provisions of the program, funds may be used for materials only.

An important phase of the American Partnership program is about to begin with the exchange of correspondence between the two schools. A scrapbook from the Cory group has already been forwarded to the Peace Corps volunteer Jan Rus.

EXCHANGING CONGRATULATIONS — The PTA at the Cory Elementary School conducted fund raising activities during the past year toward financing a South American School Partnership Program. A $1,000 check was sent to the Peace Corps. Last week the PTA was notified about the successful corps School Partnership Program and distribution of the funds received. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Petre, PTA members, exchange congratulations on the program's success with School Principal James Madigan. Mrs. Petre was PTA president when the project was started in October.

Independent Party to hear Satan's plan

The American Independent Party, 15th Congressional District, will have as a guest Reverend Marion Dye who will speak on "Satan's Master Plan to Take Over the World by 1976." Reverend Dye will also show a film entitled "My Latvia."

Herbert Philbrick, author of "I Led Three Lives" declared that this film is the most vitally picturesque film that he knows of in portraying what actually takes place in a country taken over by the Communists.

Reverend Dye has spoken in more than one hundred churches in Detroit and vicinity and has broadcast a series of special radio programs on the subject.

In his speech, Rev. Dye states "In order to take over the United States, the leaders expect to have to kill 50 million Americans. This system was inspired by Satan for the purpose of ruling out the worship of God... the plan for this system includes the claim that those who worship the true God and the Christ whom He sent are mentally ill and must either be changed or liquidated."

Reverend Dye will be speaking at the American Independent Party Headquarters at 1461 Dix, Lincoln Park, at 8 p.m. thru Friday. There is no admission charge.

Concert bid rejected by Van Buren board

A request by the Western Wayne County Skating and Hockey Association to use the Belleville High School Auditorium for a "bubble gum" rock concert has been rejected by the Van Buren Board of Education.

Association representatives reported to the school board that they wanted to hold the concert to raise funds for the support of junior and senior hockey programs in Western Wayne County.

Bernard Boyd, speaking for the association said that the "Brownsville Station" musical group would be featured at the concert. He stated that this group features "bubble gum" rock as opposed to the so-called acid or hard rock.

School board members, having in mind the troubles which have occurred at some rock concerts held elsewhere during the past year or so, and concerned over the possibility of damage to the new high school auditorium, rejected the request.

Priests' Senate picks head

A former lawyer, the Rev. Father Charles Irvin, newly elected president of the 28-member Priests' Senate of the Archdiocese of Detroit, will preside at its next meeting Feb. 16 at Sacred Heart Seminary, 2701 Chicago Blvd. Fr. Irvin, a member of the priest team at the Gabriel Richard Center for Catholic students at the University of Michigan, is an Ann Arbor native.

The 38-year-old priest is the son of Mrs. Charles Irvin, 619 E. University, Ann Arbor, and the late Mr. Irvin. He graduated from the University of Michigan High School, the University of Michigan, the U. of M. Law School and because a member of both the Michigan and Illinois bars.

Fr. Irvin studied philosophy at Sacred Heart Seminary and theology at St. John's Seminary in Plymouth. During his seminary vacations Fr. Irvin practiced law for the Ann Arbor firm of DeVine and DeVine.

The Priests' Senate of the Archdiocese of Detroit was established in 1967 in response to the Vatican Council II

Decree on the Ministry and Life of Priests, which stated that "there should be...a body or senate of priests representing all the priests. This representative body by its advice will be able to give the bishop effective assistance in the administration of the diocese."

Twenty-two members of the Detroit Priests' Senate are elected by the secular priests of the Archdiocese, two are elected by religious order priests, and four are appointed by Cardinal Dearden.

Fr. Irvin lists as the most important present concerns of the Senate "an improvement of priests' morale in light of all the departures, celibacy and what we can do about it, the role of the priest in today's society, increasing the priest's professional competence, and the relationship of the Senate to the authority structures in the Church."

Chief reminds drivers to help themselves

Chief of Police Jacob K. Koch reminded Romulus drivers today that good police services include motorist assistance in an emergency.

"The officers of this department stand ready to help as best we can," Chief Koch asserted, "but to expect officers to use their car to pull you out when you skid into a ditch is above and beyond the call for duty."

"We can call for help," the chief suggested, "but a little 'self-help' in advance and on the part of the motorist, himself, can go a long way toward avoiding stalled cars, dead batteries, or skid wrecks."

He offered some "self-help" suggestions, based on recommendations from the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police:

The car that makes it through the rest of the winter is most likely a well-tuned car — points, plugs, timing, and a water-proof electrical system hooked to a lively battery. Have the job done by a qualified mechanic. And include, also, an inspection and adjustment of the brakes.

Check the radiator and windshield washer for proper anti-freeze.

Self-help to keep going in stormy weather is your own constant attention to safety equipment, according to the chief.

All lights must be working. Headlights properly aimed. Wiper blades must wipe clean; replace them if they smear. Wiper arm pressure must clear away heavy snow and slush.

Tires must have good tread. Snow tires or studded tires are recommended for added traction — on icy, snowpacked streets — preferably on all four wheels to improve steering as well.

Tire chains give the best traction and are a must for severe conditions. See that they're sound and replace broken links.

Periodically check your defroster — before you need it. Self-help when a storm sets in and the going really gets rough is emergency equipment in the trunk of your car — booster cables, tow chain, flares or reflectors, and a good set of reinforced tire chains.

A Romulus Trail Blazer

Shaler talks about pro cage life

With beads of sweat dripping from his steaming body, the tall, slender cager paused as if to be searching for the right words, words that wouldn't be misconstrued: "Sure it's pretty rough out there, but you learn to protect yourself pretty fast."

Shaler Halimon grabbed a towel and caught some of the sweat on his forehead. "Say, where did you say you were from?"

I answered, tilting my head to look upwards at the 6-foot-6 former Romulus High School basketball star who had just helped the Portland Trail Blazers to an impressive 123-112 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Shaler played more than 15 minutes in the game and had picked up six points - three long jumpers.

It was Halimon's first appearance in Detroit in a Portland uniform, though the Pistons have had several looks at the "deadeye" when he was a member of the Philadelphia 76ers.

Traded by the 76ers this year to the Chicago Bulls, Shaler played four games with the Bulls before newly-formed Portland, a member of the Pacific Division, picked him up.

Portland is presently struggling in the cellar of its division with a 17-34 record, but that didn't stop the Trail Blazers from slashing Detroit's five-game winning streak.

Shaler has learned to protect himself on the court. He's done that ever since he was a youngster living in Romulus, where his parents still reside.

"After taking a whack on your face," Shaler says, rubbing the side of his jaw to show where he's gotten it, "you learn quick to protect yourself. If you don't, you won't last very long, I'll tell you."

An All-State cager who played three years for Romulus' Bob Diamond, who went on to coach at Flint, Halimon played his senior year under Eagle mentor Al Duva.

Shaler graduated in 1963 and after a couple of years at a junior college wound up at Utah State where he earned his degree in 1969.

That's when Philadelphia stepped in and grabbed the sharp-shooter who at one time hit on 22 consecutive jump shots as a prep against Class B rivals, Mt. Clements in State Class B competition.

The good-looking Shaler is probably the tallest "guard" in the NBA. At 6-foot-6 and 200-pounds, Portland Coach Roland Todd uses him in the backcourt because of his deadly jump shots and his slick ball-handling.

Belleville cagers put it all together

Belleville put it all together Friday night and slapped Trenton down 74-68 to win a Suburban Six Conference basketball game.

The victory, Coach Allen Gates' quintet's second in the league left the Tigers in a two-way tie for third place with Redford Union as the conference rounds the turn and enters the final stretch of competition.

"It was our best all-round game of the season," said Coach Gates who was minus his leading rebounder, Tom Ogletree, in the Trenton game. Ogletree is sidelined with the flu. "Not only did we look good on offense but we also did an excellent defensive job."

Though they trailed 18-16 after the opening quarter, Belleville exploded in the second eight minutes of play thanks to the hot hands of Garrade Pettus who pumped in 16 of his 30 points then to lead the Tigers to a 40-38, halftime margin.

Mark Bennett and Dave Cline, however, kept the Trojans alive in the second half as they drilled in seven points each to stay within close range, 54-50, at the end of the quarter.

Marty Miller joined Pettus at the shooting range and each hit for eight points to keep the Tigers in the lead. Trenton never went ahead after relinquishing that two point first quarter margin.

Miller, whose eight points in the final stanza were produced at the charity stripe where he was perfect 8-for-8 wound up with 19 points. At one span Marty sank 11 for 11 charities before settling for 13 out of 16.

Pettus' 30 points led all scorers. The total was also a personal high for the senior this season. His career high however is 32 which was set last year against Plymouth.

The Tigers also had but eight turnovers and sank 58 percent of their shots from the floor. They capitalized upon 20 of 31 free throws while Trenton made good on 12 of 27.

"We're a good ball club," said Coach Gates. We lack size and that's what hurts us the most, but I feel we are going to win some more games before we're through."

Most of the damage to Belleville's defense was caused by 6-3 forward Bennett who hit on 11 field goals and five free throws for 25 points. Cline counted 18.

To begin the second round Belleville will be at Plymouth, a team which in recent years has always posed as a serious problem to the Tigers.

Sports Meridian

It's about time

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

If you didn't catch it the other day, well here it is again: The Michigan High School Athletic Association announced a couple of days ago that it is in the business of organizing a state high school baseball tournament.

We'll buy that.

And it's about time!

The tournament, the first of its kind ever in this state, will be held May 29, districts June 5, regionals June 12, and finals for each of four classes, June 19.

Sounds like basketball, doesn't it. And the move by Allen Bush, the state athletics director, and his boys up in Lansing, should cause a renaissance in high school baseball.

If there were one sport which needed some adrenalin in its system, it's prep baseball which flashes on the scene in late March and evaporates early in June with few of us seeing its debut or departure.

With a state championship awaiting the finish of the league competition, you can bet the coaches and the players will have something other than sandlot ball to think about when their conference season is completed.

True, there are several good post-league invitational tournaments in this area. And the winners of some of these area tourneys also move on to play in districts, but all is accomplished on a hit-and-miss and, maybe we-will-go-philosophy.

A state tournament will erase that sort of approach, you can bet.

Now, if someone could only devise a rational scheme to conduct a state football tournament, wouldn't that be something to look forward to?

Have any ideas, coach?

*** **

Speaking of coaches, I received a surprise visit from one late last night - Joe LaScola, Cherry Hill High's head cage coach. And, since it was about 10 p.m. when he dropped by I couldn't help but wonder if he wasn't sleep-walking. Or, maybe, the near zero temperatures forced him to find refuge inside the Daily Eagle.

"No," replied LaScola when I asked if he was suffering from insomnia. "Just checking to see if you really work those late hours you say you do."

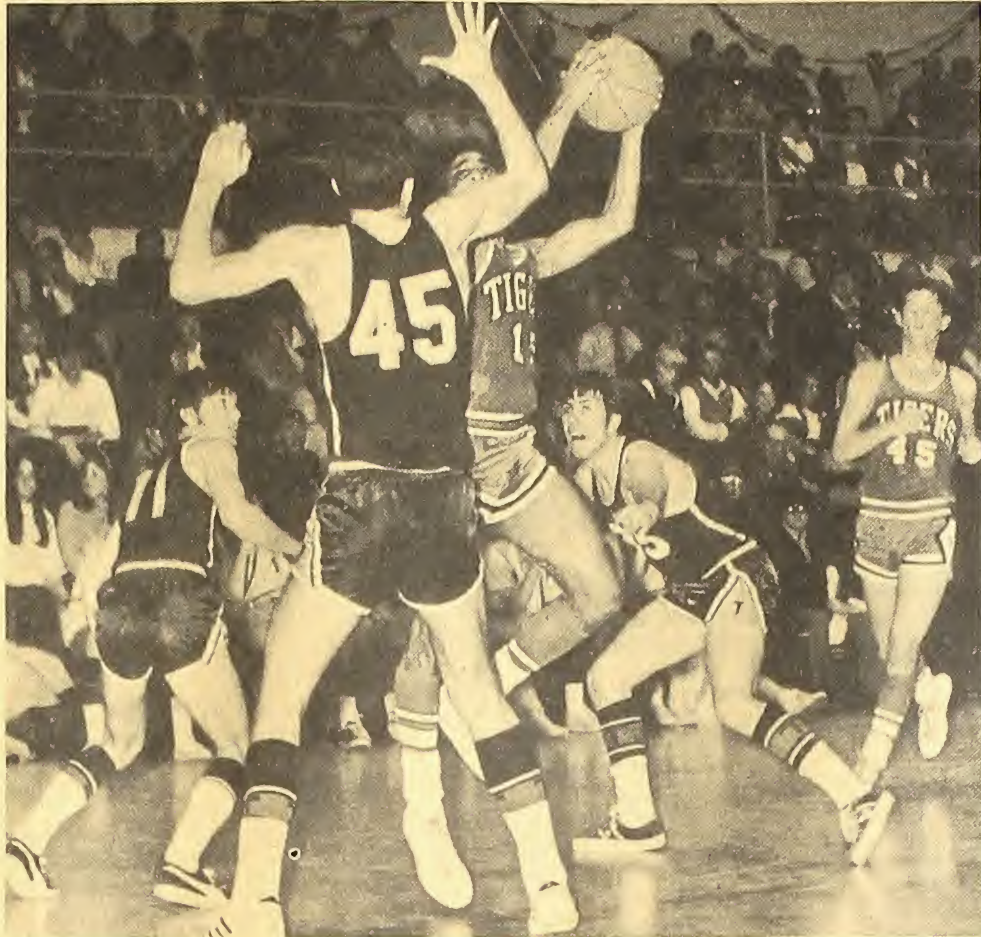

"And?"

"Apparently you do work the mid-night shift."

LaScola, who is rounding out his final season with the Spartans as their head basketball coach so that, "he could devote more time to coach the high school's football team," was given the "red carpet" treatment by the Sports Meridian - a cup of coffee.

"And now, coach, what did you really come down here for? Have you been hired to take over the Lions? Or maybe you're

TOO HOT TO HANDLE - Trenton's Mark Bennett (45) goes up with the hands to attempt to block Belleville's Garrade Pettus (with ball) from taking this shot. Pettus was elusive most of the night and on target for 14 of his 17 shots from the field, scoring 30 points to lead his team to their second Suburban Six triumph of the year.

Brothers provide key to Belleville victory

A brothers' act, featuring the Stones, Susterkas, and the Ackrons, highlighted Belleville's first swimming victory over Suburban Six Conference rival, Trenton, last week.

The meet went right down to the last event, - the 400-yard freestyle relay before Belleville Coach Jim Vicchy's Tigers pulled it out 56-49.

It was Belleville's initial victory over Trenton in over a decade. The victory also padded the Tigers' league record to 4-1. The lone setback was handed to them from Allen Park.

In the crucial relay, Coach Vicchy chose Terry Mills, Kevin Owen, Jeff Fry and Tim Stone to go the distance and the foursome responded with a 3:36.5 to beat the Trenton entry which finished a body length behind with a 3:40.5 clocking.

The brothers - Kim and Tim Stone, Dean and Jim Ackron and Brad and Barry Susterka handed the Tigers five first places.

Wrestling quad packed with talent

Romulus grapplers bounded back from a defeat at the hands of nonleague rival Adrian to swamp Twin Valley Conference foe, Willow Run, 39-13, last week.

It was the Eagles' fourth victory in seven starts. Coach Jim Stallings' team stands upon a 4-2-1 over-all record.

Romulus, along with Belleville, John Glenn, and Wayne Memorial will participate in the annual quadrangular to be staged at Belleville on Saturday.

With both Wayne and John Glenn undefeated and, with Wayne ranked as the eighth best team in the state this season, the quad should be the best since its inception three years ago.

Wrestling will begin at noon on Saturday.

Against Willow Run, the only other league member to field a wrestling team for the past two years, Romulus had little trouble turning back the Flyers.

The Eagles picked up six pins which were good enough for 30 of their 39 points and were never seriously

Belleville matmen sustain 1st loss

Belleville head wrestling Coach Tom Fritz "went for broke" with his 155-pounder, Gary Krajewski, after the Tigers found themselves in a precarious mat position with Suburban Six Conference rival, Trenton.

Fritz and the Tigers needed to win the final four weights by pins in order to salvage the league win and, though Krajewski was leading his rival, Casey Robertson, his bid for a five-point victory backfired and the Tiger grappler lost.

Trenton also pinned Belleville with its first league setback of the current campaign, 29-19. The Tigers presently have a 2-1 league record.

Coach Fritz also went into the meet with a patched up lineup as he substituted 132-pounder Ed Gohl for the sidelined Mike Roberts, who is nursing a nose injury.

Gohl was stopped by veteran Phil Ines who won a five-pointer in 10 seconds.

The results of the meet are as follows: Trenton 29, Belleville 19.

Shaler talks about life as pro cager

Todd uses Halimon on his taxi squad when he feels the long range artillery should go into action. Does Shaler feel he's getting in enough playing time?

Halimon juggled the words around and replied: "Let's say I would like to play more than I am presently."

Because of his schedule, he barely gets a chance to see his former high school team play, but he has caught some of the players in action, using superlatives to describe Romulus' 6-5 center Nate Williams.

"Nate can be about anything he wants to be," said Shaler. "I know the pros are looking at him right now. And it's up to him if he wants to make the grade."

Shaler said "he had made up his mind a long time ago that he wanted to be a professional basketball player."

"I used to get up at 6 a.m. in the morning and play until someone dragged us out of the gym. I knew what I wanted and I worked to get there."

"It's the same with whatever one wants in life," he said. "You set up your own goals and you work towards them, if you don't reach them there's no one to blame but yourself."

At 25, Shaler is one of the most eligible bachelors around.

Has he any plans for marriage?

"Who would want me?" he asked rhetorically.

And that was the only unbelievable statement of the entire night, for as he strolled out of the lockerroom and into the corridors, a gang of very attractive young women ran up and shouted: "There he is, there he is."

And they weren't flashing those lovely eyes at me.

Sports Meridian

the guy Norris has Tagged as the next Wings' GM? Or do you want my job?" I asked.

"No, but I would settle for a college coaching job, if you have one open," he quipped.

A glanced down my long list of colleges and stopped and paused at Olivet. "How about Olivet, there's a good school with a head coaching job available for the right man. Do you want it?"

"Sure, sure," Joe gleamed, "can you swing it?"

"One second, please. Let me phone Howard Hughes and see if he won't buy the university for me. If he does, I'll install you as the next head coach, how's that?"

"You must be kidding or drinking?"

I was ... kidding.

I asked LaScola if a successor had been found for his present coaching position and he replied, "I know they have received a few applications, but as to how far they are with their interviewing, I really don't know."

Anyone want a basketball team one that won its last game? Don't ask about their record, though. Joe, sort of blushes when you bring that up.

a century of dependability

The world we live in moves at a rapid pace. New products appear, and disappear, by the hundreds on a daily basis. New fashions, philosophies, ideas, are gobbled up, and spit out, before digestion can occur. Fads and fancies sweep the nation and some are exhausted in weeks. We have new politics, new economics, new ways of doing things.

And, in this frighteningly furious time, you and I search for roots. We look for credibility . . . for stability . . . for orderly progress . . . for communication . . . for answers to our problems . . . and for agreement. We want things built to last. We want quality. We want service. We want to deal with institutions that have stood the test of time. Wyandotte Savings Bank celebrates its hundredth anniversary this year. A century of dependability. Why?

Because, while fads and fancies shifted . . . while opinions changed . . . while events began accelerating . . . Wyandotte Savings Bank adhered to the principle of dependability. People knew we always were there when needed . . . and, more importantly, we met our commitments. In return, they favored us with their business, and brought their friends and associates with them. And, over the years, we have grown to know and to respect each other. We communicated. We worked out our problems together on an equitable basis.

Now, the community is larger . . . the population is larger and Wyandotte Savings Bank is larger. All because we could depend on each other.

So, in beginning our hundredth year, let me sincerely thank all of you for allowing us to be your banker . . . and invite you to join in the activities we have planned throughout the year to demonstrate our appreciation of your patronage.

Sincerely,

William T. Orr
President

In order to give your news items the best coverage possible, we ask that you follow a few simple rules when sending in articles.

TYPE out your news when and if possible. ALWAYS, but ALWAYS, double space and use only one side of the paper. Leave several inches at the tops of the paper and margins at both sides. (That gives us space for instructions to the printers, corrections, etc.)

PRINT, please print, if no typewriter is available. A's, e's, o's, and i's are rough to decipher in writing as are r's from n's and p's from f's.

DO get your story in by deadline time, please. We have a new time for all society items, please note. All weddings, engagements, birth announcements, club news, and columns must be into our office by 2 p.m. Thursday.

DO bring in pictures. If we CAN'T use them, we'll be polite in refusing (lack of space, suitability, picture quality, being our basis for refusal.)

GIVE us a few tips! Being an editorial staff of two, we can't possibly cover all four townships, umpteen schools, all cities, meetings, etc. Your help in letting us in on events of importance can make your local paper just THAT much more interesting!

LENGTHY stories must be written out. It's just not possible to take items of any length via the telephone. It's much too difficult to take spellings of names, addresses, etc. and assure you of a correct story when it's phoned in. We ask that you either slip your news in the mail, bring it in person, or, if we're closed, drop it in our mail slot.

YOUR cooperation will make us just that much nicer to work with and given you a newspaper you're proud to read.

Malnutrition widespread

Only 50 to 60 per cent of American households have diets which meet recommended nutrition standards. Ironically, low income is not the only reason for malnutrition in this country. Much malnutrition results simply because food choices are determined by personal preferences or dislikes and because people do not know what kinds of food they should eat to maintain good health.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL J. CHUDZINSKI

Chudzinski-Squelch wed

Couple exchange vows at evening ceremony

St. Anthony's Catholic Church was reserved the evening of December 11 for the ceremony which united Constance Marie Squelch and Paul James Chudzinski in holy matrimony.

Father Raymond S. Skonec presided at the seven o'clock nuptials before an altar appointed with two standing candelabra banked with white empress mums entwined with greens.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Squelch of 12651 Lake Pointe Pass, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Chudzinski, Sr. of 41721 Savage Road, Belleville, are parents of the young couple.

Mike Ives at the organ accompanied soloist Gail Runion as she sang "The Wedding Prayer", "Ave Maria" and "Jesus Stand Beside Them."

Some 50 guests assembled for the double ring rite, saw Connie escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she appeared in a snow white satin creation designed with a wedding ring neckline frosted with appliques of Spanish lace flowers and seed pearling. The lace motif was repeated in spray fashion on the full floor-length skirt and again on the floating panels attached high at either side of the back. A triple grosgrain bow defined the empire bodice with high-cuffed bishop sleeves completing the styling details.

A tiara of matching lace and seed pearls secured her lace-bordered mantilla which drifted into a circular train and an arrangement of stephanotis and ivy tied with white velvet streamers completed her bridal finery.

Wendy Squelch was her sister's honor attendant dressed in burgundy velvet. The empire frock was fashioned with a ring collar of ecru lace flower appliques which also accented the cuffs of the bishop sleeves. A single burgundy rose tied with ivy and matching velvet streamers was her only accessory.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, John Chudzinski of Belleville. Others on the esquire side were Russell T. Squelch and Richard Chudzinski, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Squelch selected a chartreuse silk acetate jacket-dress ensemble with ruffle trim. Mrs. Chudzinski wore a princess frock of rust-colored silk. Both mothers were presented with corsages of snow crystal mums tied with gold ribbon.

The Ambassador Restaurant at the Hilton Inn, Ann Arbor, was the setting for the dinner reception which followed with places being set for 30 guests.

Out of town guests attending were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Loretta M. Squelch and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Burns, all of Buffalo, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Light, the bride's brother-in-law and sister from Sandusky.

After a three-day honeymoon at Niagara Falls, New York, the newlyweds took up residence at the Lake Villa Apartments, 46040 Lake Villa Drive, Belleville.

Both Connie and Paul are 1968 graduates of Belleville High School. She attended Northern Michigan University for one year and is currently employed by the Automobile Association of American in Ypsilanti. Paul is an employee of Chudzinski Cement Contracting Company, Belleville.

Michalaks of 25556 Oakland Drive, Dearborn Heights, he is employed by the Wayne County Sheriff Road Patrol. A member of the Pilot-Civil Air Patrol, the Michigan Pilots Association, and Loyal Order of Moose, Dearborn, he previously spent three years serving with the U.S. Navy.

English lass is houseguest

THE RUSSELL SQUELCH family of Lake Pointe Pass has been playing host to a visitor from England for the past couple weeks. The newest member of their 'family' is Helen Fry, a co-ed at Eastern Michigan University, who is taking part of her teacher education in the States in conjunction with E.M.U.'s exchange program with Coventry College near London.

Helen is one of 10 students who required temporary housing (she'll reside at Wise Hall on campus next semester.) Mrs. Squelch (who is employed at E.M.U.) heard of the situation and invited Helen to 'bunk' with her family.

A ballet dancer since the age of two, Helen is currently teaching dance and physical education at Ypsilanti High School as part of her training. Since the Squelch's daughter, Wendy, was in student teaching herself just a year ago and is currently on the staff of South Junior High, the two girls have found much in common.

Helen is the 19-year old daughter of the B.J. Frys of 12 Sandy Way, Shirley, Croydon, Surrey, England. A second-year student at Coventry College, she is furthering her education by pursuing courses in geography and other education subjects. On leaving E.M.U. in June, she plans to travel throughout the country before returning home in September.

A number of 'firsts' have been chalked up by the young lady since her arrival in Belleville. Her host family introduced her to her first hamburger, pizza, and 'surf and turf' (lobster tail and steak plate). She also had her initial snow-mobile experience and visit to a Michigan farm owned by Pat and Darlene (Squelch) Light in Sandusky. On the calendar for future weeks, there's an American wedding and a trip to Buffalo, New York.

And just last week the Squelchs entertained a group of Helen's friends at a dinner party. Karen Neal, Nancy Allen and Sharon Montgomery, co-eds who will soon be returning to their classes at Berkshire College in England (also on the exchange program with Eastern) enjoyed (a bit nostalgically) the English favorite - roast beef and Yorkshire pudding which Mrs. Squelch had made for the occasion.

Bridal shower honors Irene

IRENE SOHOZA was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower given by her mother, Mrs. Frances Sohoza. Held at her home on Savage Road, the party was attended by some 20 friends and relatives who enjoyed playing games of card bingo and seeing Irene open her many pretty gifts. Assisting with the ribbons and wrappings were the honoree's sister, Theresa Allen of Romulus. Winner of the door prize was Ruth Drotar of Belleville.

From a buffet table centered with a special bride cake, guests later selected a variety of desserts which were served with tea and coffee.

Saturday, January 23, Irene became the bride of Woody Sloan at a ceremony in Detroit.

Their destination is 'down south'

THE GRISHABERS - Harry, Scotty, Doreen, and Tina of De Witt Street - took off for points south January 4 and winged their way to Jackson, Mississippi.

Their host and hostess for two weeks were Scotty's parents, the D.B. Monros (formerly of Sheldon Road) who entertained the Grishabers quite royally, Scotty tells us. She also enjoyed seeing her two brothers, Bobby and Bill, for the first time in four years.

Expecting their vacation to be a complete switch from Michigan weather, the group was quite shocked when a freak ice storm blanketed the area leaving five-to-six inches of ice on the overpasses. But as quickly as it struck was as quickly as it departed, the temps rising back to the 70's the following day.

Part of the fun before returning home on the 15th was a trip to New Orleans where they took in the many points of interest.

Karen entertains her classmates

WITH SLEEPING bags, pillows and blankets in tow, several of Karen Greathouse's friends headed for her home on Harmony Lane Friday evening for pajama party. All fellow-students at South Junior High, her guests included Joy Russell, Ann Paas, Judy Frydryck, Sandy Scothorn, Sue Smith, Jennie Henning, Nancy Muse, Kim Haveronek, and Michelle Jenkins.

And as a special treat, that eighth grade combo-comprised of drummer Steve Prouty and guitarists, Dwight Baker, John Smith and Pete Bankhart, made another appearance. After dancing to the live music the group enjoyed pizza together before the boys departure.

Hearty meat balls rate big in flavor

Ground meat wins as the All-American economical source of high-quality protein, essential to growth and life. Important for building and maintaining body tissues, protein is a must in the diet. Ground meat, like more costly cuts, helps to satisfy the family's protein needs, whether in form of meat loaf, beefburgers, spaghetti sauce or chili.

For a family favorite, Reba Stages of the National Live Stock and Meat Board recommends meat balls prepared along Scandinavian tradition with both beef and pork plus nutmeg and lemon rind for seasoning.

Scandinavian Meat Balls
1 pound ground beef
1/2 pound ground pork
1-3 cup milk
1/2 cup commercial bread crumbs

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
3/4 cup milk
Cooked noodles.

Pour 1-3 cup milk over bread crumbs. Add beef, pork, salt, nutmeg, lemon rind and egg. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Shape meat mixture into 18 balls, allowing approximately 2 tablespoons for each. Brown meat balls in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine soup and 3/4 cup milk, mix well and pour over meat balls. Cover lightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Serve over cooked noodles. 6 servings.

Lamberts surprised on 25th anniversary

On Tuesday evening, January 19, Mr. and Mrs. Troye Lambert of Quirk Rd., Belleville, were pleasantly surprised when 36 relatives and friends came in to help celebrate their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. Harwin Clayton of Endicott St. planned the party and made the appropriately-decorated wedding cake.

Present were the couple's matron of honor, Ruby Clayton, and best man, Harley Clayton, from the wedding which took place at the Belleville United Methodist Church January 19, 1946, with the Rev. Ralph Dunlop officiating.

The Lamberts are the parents of three sons, Adrian, Craig and Chris. They also have one granddaughter Melissa.

MISS MROZINSKI

Just right for him

You can produce a perfect roast for your "Valentine" on February 14 or any day. Just roast at a low oven temperature (325 degrees F.) to retain the juicy goodness of the meat, be it beef, pork, veal or lamb. To insure the just right degree of doneness, invest in a roast meat thermometer.

Guests who were present from Dearborn Heights, Taylor and Belleville, presented the happy couple with several nice gifts.

When Mrs. Lambert cut the wedding cake she presented her brother, Henry Clayton, with the first piece, having been overseas during the war when they were married, he didn't have a piece of the original cake.

Buying sneakers? Follow these tips

Choosing sneakers for your family may be your most important shoe purchase.

According to Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, some individuals give their sneakers hard and almost constant wear. Sneakers should be as well made as any other shoes; and they should be sturdy and designed for foot support.

Miss Kahabka offers some tips on buying sneakers based on investigations by a magazine research report. Look for:

Firmly woven materials. The most popular fabrics for uppers are canvas, denim, poplin and corduroy. Corduroy may be of cotton or nylon; or it may be a blend of polyester and cotton, or nylon and cotton.

Reinforced heel, back seam and other stress areas with extra fabric and stitching.

Neat, secure stitching with no rough spots, wrinkles, bulky seams or gummy adhesives.

Firm attachment of sole to upper. The rubber around the base of the sneaker must be one continuous strip, tightly attaching sole to upper.

A toe guard, especially in children's sneakers.

Good fit. Try on sneakers with the kind of socks to be worn. (Socks are essential to absorb perspiration).

Washability. Check labels and hangtags. Most sneakers are washable by hand or machine with warm water and regular detergent. Chlorine bleach and drying sneakers near heat may damage the rubber.

... Make a nifty spool holder from a Ping-Pong paddle, with nails threaded into it to hold the thread.

In The Bag. Those super-looking shopping bags that so many stores are using nowadays are making their way into the teen scene as a kooky accessory. Clean bags, free from rips or tears, can be sprayed inside and out with artist's lacquer fixative (the kind that art supply stores sell). Thus treated, the bags make dandy and long-lasting totes, bookbags even colorful beach bags.

Students assemble production line

The gymnasium at the Denton Elementary School became a mock factory last week as fifth and sixth grade students studied about mass production.

Fifth grade teacher Mrs. Mary Murrel and sixth grade teacher Bob Cook coordinated the project. Nine students acted as class representatives during the planning stage.

The second stage involved setting up the assembly lines, where each step toward the finished product, an ice-fishing tip-up, was designated by a number.

After setting up job descriptions and time studies, actual production began. Youngsters with C-clamps, coping saws, hammers, files, drills and screwdrivers drilled, filed, sawed, assembled and pointed as the raw materials were fed into the line.

Ninety students had participated in the project. A total of six hours was involved and 96 tip-ups were made. "An average of 16 per hour," Cook figured.

"The children live in an era that is dictated by mass production. Our whole society revolves around this idea," Mrs. Murrel commented. "Children can read about it but won't really know until they experience it."

School nurse Miss Marge Lingenfelter, said, "It's amazing to think that they could start out with those rough blocks of wood and channel them into a finished product."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Piece and peace. Two simple words. They sound alike. They're spelled differently, have different meaning.

Consider for example, "piece of mind" as it is commonly used and "peace of mind" as it too is commonly understood. "Piece of mind" is common. "Peace of mind" is all too uncommon.

Telling some one off with a "piece of mind" is one thing. Possessing "peace of mind" is different. "Peace of mind" even at its best provides only a TEMPORARY feeling of satisfaction. Once attained, "peace of mind" can be maintained - it gives PERMANENT satisfaction.

Wouldn't it be a wonderful world if people would practice less "piece of mind" and possess more "peace of mind" ...?

Give loving care to those boots

By MARY SUE MILLER

Do take those weather-beaten boots out of circulation until you find time to refurbish them. Boots may be handsome but they become poor things when rain, mud, snow or rock salt get to them. Like right about now!

Made of vinyl or other man-made materials, boots can easily be wiped clean with a sudsy sponge and rinsed with clear water. Thereafter a soft cloth takes care of drying and polishing in one operation.

Today's leather boots have special finishes to keep them supple and cleanable. They too respond to sudsy spongings, if followed by a rinse with a barely damp cloth. Be sure to let leathers dry thoroughly before wearing. If scuffed or dull, colorless liquid polish or paste wax brings up luster.

The insides of boots also need renovating. Always when wet seeps in. And that is bound to happen, unless the construction is truly waterproof via sealed seams. To take care of a little or lot of interior damp, blot insides with paper towels. Then insert the hose of a hair dryer and blow the lining dry. That way boots are ready for wear in short order.

All interiors need ventilation. When not in use boots should be left near an open window fairly often, not always stowed in an airless bag. Linings will feel fresher. Be fresher.

Child care

Reasons for colic vary widely

By WILLIAM G. CROOK, M.D.

Q.—My 6-week-old grandson cries more than a baby should. He's constantly fretting, twisting and turning. And part of the time he screams as though he is really in pain. Yet at his recent checkup, the doctor said he was fine, gaining well, that it was just colic and he would outgrow it. None of my own babies had colic and I'd like to find out a little more about it. —Mrs. A.A.

A.—In spite of a lot of thought and study by pediatricians and other doctors, colic is still poorly understood. One eminent physician said, "Maybe there's no such thing as colic. But there's certainly something that makes babies cry unbelievably loud and long without seeming to interfere with their perfect health."

Here are some of the common causes of colic:

1—Taking formula too fast: A hungry baby may gulp mouthfuls of air along with the milk. Unless the air is pushed from the stomach into the intestine by the milk. Once in the intestine, the air has to pass from the body to the rectum. Sometimes these air bubbles get caught and won't move. Apparently, this causes the "stomach-ache" and colic.

2—Intolerance to cow's milk: Some babies have cramping stomach-ache and discomfort because of this intolerance. They may become more comfortable if some other type of formula is substituted. But even breast-fed babies may have colic. I recently saw two breast-fed babies who suffered severe colic. In one youngster, the colic subsided when the mother quit eating eggs; in the other, the colic stopped when the mother quit drinking cow's milk. In each baby, the colic returned when the mother ate the troublemaking food.

Occasionally, I'll see a 2-month-old infant who cries excessively due to pain from some other part of the body, such as an ear-ache, a kidney infection or rectal fissure. Other babies cry for reasons that aren't immediately apparent. But I agree with you that infants of this age are not "spoiled." I urge parents to pick up babies during the early months of life, any time they cry and hold them, pat them, rock them or otherwise comfort them.

I also urge them to take the child for a careful checkup and examination by their physician, to make sure there isn't physical cause for the baby's discomfort.

If a youngster grinds his teeth, maybe he inherited the tendency from his parents. At least, this conclusion was suggested by a study made by some Japanese pediatricians several years ago. The study also reported that of the parents who were said to have ground their teeth during childhood over one-third of them stated they still do so. So if you have a teeth-grinding child, maybe worms or television isn't to blame after all.

Seriously, I'm not sure that we doctors really know why children grind their teeth. And just to see what some of the experts had to say, I looked up the subject in half-a-dozen different textbooks of pediatrics and psychiatry (and I found about half a dozen different answers). But nearly all doctors conceded that many normal children grind their teeth at times. Drs. Harry and Ruth Bakwin of New York had this to say: "This habit has been attributed to dental difficulties and intestinal disorders, but ordinarily it is without demonstrable cause."

If teeth-grinding is mild and occasional, I generally reassure parents in my own practice and do nothing. If it is occurring nightly and seems intense enough to wear the teeth down, I may temporarily prescribe a mild sedative.

If it is severe (especially after the permanent teeth have come in) and doesn't disappear with usual treatment measures, including lessening of possible emotional pressures on the child, I refer the child to a dentist for management.

If you have a child care problem you would like discussed in this column, write in care of The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave., West, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

"Hello, this is Joe's auto body shop—I'm giving your wife sanctuary."

PASS IT ON by L.M. Boyd

Take two people who are talking with one another. You can't hear what they say, but you can see them. One's the boss, so to speak, the other's not quite so strong. But which is which? The boss is the one who repeatedly looks away from the other's face during the conversation. The weaker of the two tends to gaze directly at the other. Or so contends a scholar who claims expertise in this highly specialized field of study.

However, one nationwide study of women taxicab drivers recently turned up the peculiar fact that they get into three times as many traffic smashups as do the men cabdrivers. Why is a mystery.

Open question — Why do we call a widow's peak by that name?

Why the old Roman Empire fell, that's still open to argument. One man of history says it was because the well-heeled citizenry ate food cooked in lead pots while the working folk ate food cooked in crockery. He theorizes the upper class lead-poisoned itself out of business. And he cites the foregoing to prove an entire civilization, including thine and mine, can pull up lame on phony foods.

Here's another technique whereby it's said you can get rid of the moles in your garden. Sink empty beer bottles halfway into the ground. The wind makes the bottles vibrate, even whistle sometimes. And this symphony supposedly irritates the moles beyond endurance, so they depart. Am aware a garden full of beer bottles is not much improvement over a garden full of moles, but no plan of man is perfect.

Customer service — Q. "In British weight, how much is a stone?" A. Just 14 pounds. Any girl who weighs 168 pounds might keep that in mind. Doesn't "twelve stone" sound better? Q. "In diving gear, where'd the word 'scuba' come from?" A. Self-Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus.

If you haven't been following the horse races lately, maybe you don't know that numerous trainers now exercise their ponies in swimming pools. To develop the muscle and the wind without that pounding on the hooves and legs. Most particularly, this is the practice in Florida.

As for those nominees to The Proper Job Club, don't forget Mr. Combs, a barber in Casper, Wyo., Mr. Faucett, the city water commissioner in Buhl, Ida., and Miss Bills, a medical bookkeeper in Santa Ana, Calif.

Rapid Reply — Yes, sir, if you and your wife make a total of $20,000 a year, your combined work is worth about 17 cents a minute.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in "Pass It On" wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 90068, Seattle, Wash. 98199.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope from the Carroll Righter Institute

General tendencies: Only by expressing your charm and giving others a big smile are you likely to steer clear of the difficult influences today, for most everyone is eager to break up existing conditions, or to quarrel. By refusing to be drawn into anything of this nature you can avoid trouble and gain others' respect, goodwill.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you are critical of friends, you find you lose favor with them that will be difficult to regain later. Steer clear of social affairs if you possibly can. Arguments are best avoided now.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Making sure that you do not ruin your reputation in any way is important now, for you lose credit otherwise. Don't try to tell a higher-up off or you are the loser. Evening is good for social activities, though.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) New activities are appealing, but this is not the time to get into them since you have other matters to take care of. Don't be blinded by some overly-glamorous individual later. Keep your cool.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Avoid that talk with a partner today and get busy solving problems early. Tomorrow all works out fine. Use your warm smile more with others and you find things will be better with them, too. Take it easy tonight.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Any problems you may have are a challenge to your ability to handling them, so show that this is considerably. Keep any promises made meticulously. Impress others with the fact that you are a dependable person.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to get work done well by yourself if you don't argue or talk excessively with fellow workers. Make sure to rest during spare time and get rid of that feeling of tiredness. Show that you have wisdom.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to run away from work that annoys you and go out for recreation, but you had better complete tasks or you get in dutch later on. Exercise some patience where romance is concerned in p.m. Control your temper.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Any new arrangements at home should be put off to a better time when others are more helpful. Being forceful with your ideas at home could start a big squabble. Show that you have tact.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Important you drive or walk carefully or you could have an unfortunate accident that could be avoided otherwise. Also, do not tell another person off or you are the one to have the headaches. A little reason goes a long way.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel that if you spend money you can persuade another to do what you wish or get out of some trouble that way, but you had better use ethical methods. Economizing and fixing property is best way to proceed. Talk up a storm with mate and have fun.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) See what it is that others adoring and show patience instead of concentrating on their faults. Pay compliments where deserved. Social endeavors are OK, provided you do not confide in every Tom, Dick and Harry about them.

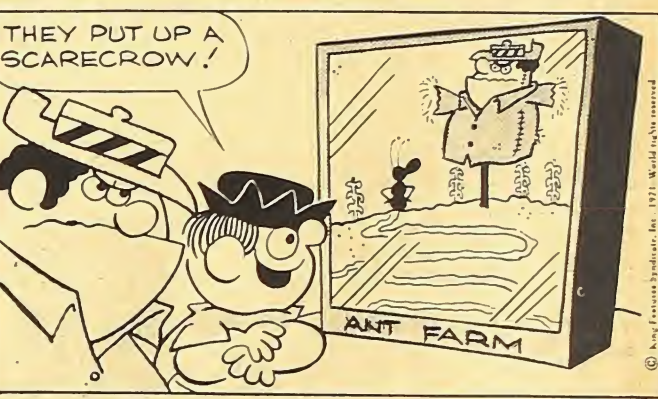

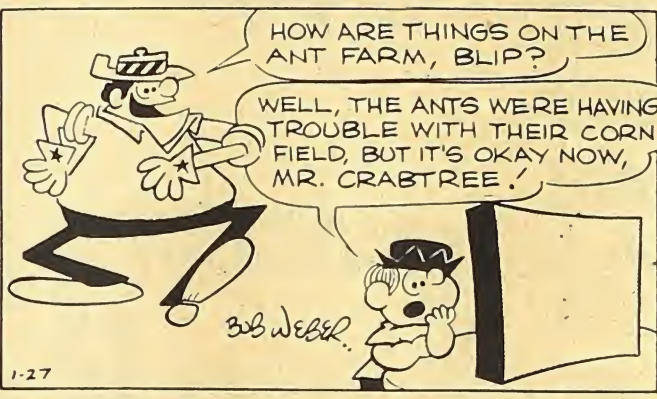

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't think others are imposing on you and get busy with whatever may be your duties without complaints. Try to help those who are not so fortunate as you. This is a good trait to cultivate.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those delightful young people who would do well in trouble-shooting careers and it would be wise to slant the education along such lines, whether male or female. Give sports and little tasks early in life that can discipline your child's mind and energy as well. Anything connected with government or large businesses requiring long hours and much expenditure of energy is excellent. Teach early to be more impersonal.

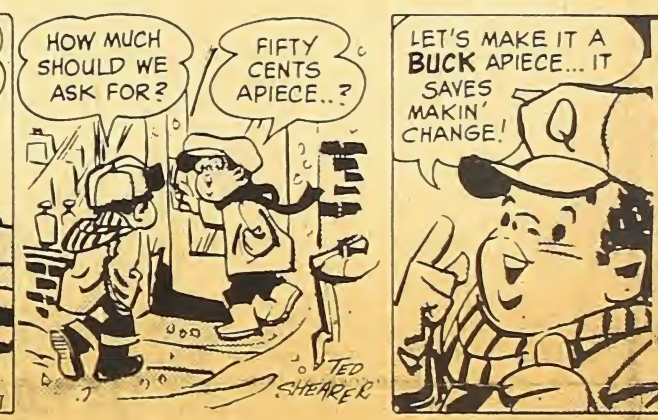

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you.

—Ask VA—

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA Office.)

Q - I am a disabled veteran receiving additional compensation for my 17-year-old son who recently enlisted in the Navy. Must I report his enlistment to the VA and will VA stop the additional compensation because of his enlistment?

A - The answer to both questions is "no." The additional compensation will continue until your son reaches 18, regardless of his military service.

Q - My son received 36 months of training under the Dependents Educational Assistance Program and has now been ordered to active duty. Will he still be eligible for educational assistance under the GI Bill?

A - Yes. If your son serves on active duty at least 181 days and receives an other than dishonorable discharge, he will be eligible for additional education assistance. A veteran may use up to 48 months when he is entitled under two or more programs, but all time used under law administered by the VA will be deducted from this maximum entitlement.

Q - My father was a World War II veteran, and after his death I received $40 per month death pension. I am now a 22-year-old Vietnam veteran enrolled in college under the GI Bill. Am I still eligible for the pension benefits in addition to my veteran benefits?

A - Yes, if you have never married, and meet the income limitation of $1,800 maximum, you will be eligible for the $40 pension benefit until you reach age 23. Your GI Bill payments, in excess of the amounts expended for training, are considered income.

Q - My father has a service-connected gastritis condition which, for several years, VA rated him at 60 percent disabled. Since the condition prevents him from being employable, am I eligible for an educational allowance as a child of a disabled veteran?

A - No. The veteran must be rated by the VA as permanently and totally disabled. However, since you indicated that your father may be unemployable, he should submit proof of this fact and request his claim be reopened. If he should be rated 100 percent disabled based on individual employability because of his disability, you might then become eligible.

NEW BEAUTY-BARBER SHOP — A new barber shop and a newly located beauty shop have been set up at 29605 Ecorse Rd. in Romulus. Bob Burnie, who used to be in partnership in a barber shop at 30929 Ecorse Rd., has opened Bob Burnie's Barber Shop. Katherine Hando, whose Kitty's Beauty Shop used to be located across the street about two blocks away, has her shop in the other half of the building, which has been used as a market, auto parts store and a freight office.

Tickets available soon for 4-H birthday party

The Wayne County 4-H Club will celebrate 25 years of existence on Feb. 17.

The annual 4-H Awards Banquet will do double duty as the 25th birthday party for members in the area, with buffet dinner served at the Romulus Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

Tickets for the event will be available after Feb. 1 by calling William Younglove, Wayne County Coordinator for the 4-H Club, at 721-6550.

Younglove likes to call 4-H a "now" organization, which serves the needs of all young people, regardless of their background.

"All too often, people associate our organization with farms, horses and cows," said Younglove, "but we've adapted to the society. Sixty-five percent of our membership now lives in urban areas, be it Detroit, Wayne or Westland."

Western Wayne County is heavily populated with 4-H organizations, with 20 of the county's 40 clubs operating from the area.

Younglove would like to see the membership blossom.

"We serve the needs of all people today," said Younglove. "For instance, we offer instruction in car buying for youngsters."

He said that anyone aged eight to adult may join the 4-H by calling him. "It's the easiest club to join in the world," said Younglove.

Month replaces Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Week in 1971 is out, but it will be replaced by a monthlong Anniversary Celebration in February. John S. Pingel, president of Ross Roy and president of Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced.

The yearly observance of the founding of the Nation's largest youth organization will now provide an entire month for Packs, Troops and Posts to schedule meetings and other events to focus attention on the 61st Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Boy Scout Week was valid in the old days, but now we need something that more accurately describes the celebration of our anniversary," Pingel said. "The actual birthday anniversary, Feb. 8, will still be observed as a part of the month's activities."

Highlight of the celebration in the Detroit Area Council, which serves Metropolitan Detroit, will be the launching of Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources), the yearlong Conservation Good Turn.

More than 113,000 local Scouts and leaders will join in Conservation projects that continue a 60-year history of teaching and practicing environmental protection, Pingel said.
